Privileges are things that you can do for free, but now the "government" calls a privilege and charges you a fee.

Rights:

The right to travel within one's conveyance, also known as Liberty

Your body is yours; no government can dictate what you can or cannot do with your body.

The right to your body has been usurped by the state in various ways, the war on drugs, which started over 100 years ago when a pharma company patented Morphine a derivative of Heroin and lobbied the government to make Heroin illegal.

DuPont chemical in the early 1900s patented nylon and lobbied the government to make Hemp illegal; they were successful only after the renamed Hemp, Marijuana, a Mexican slang term for Dope.

Now in this new century, the state makes full claim on all our bodies, they have mandatory vaccines for all children entering public schools which the state runs and funds with money stolen from we the people. They do this on behalf of Big Pharma; they have passed statutes holding Big Pharma harmless if their vaccines harm us.
